Art Unit: 1773

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 1-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The words "low" and "high" in claims 1-7,9-13,15 are relative terms which render the claims indefinite. The terms low and high are not defined by the claim, the specification does not provide a standard for ascertaining the requisite degree, and one of ordinary skill in the art would not be reasonably apprised of the scope of the invention.

Claims 2-8 claim "a method as recited in claim 1", however claim 1 is an article claim. Likewise claims 10 –14 claim a method as in claim 9 while claim 9 is directed to an article. Therefore claims 2-8 and 10-14 have not been treated on the merits and the independent article claims 1 and 9 and 15 (where the system contains a nominal head, slider, and control unit) have been presumptively elected by original presentation.

Claims 6 and 7 are deemed indefinite since reference to a standard deviation without a central tendency renders the limitation indefinite.

Also it is not clear from the claim language of what "scale" is intended.

Note that the inclusion of limitations to a head or slider in claims 1 and 9 are not claim limitations for a medium and therefore carry no weight.

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

Art Unit: 1773

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 1,9 and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Takahashi et al US 6852010.

Takahashi et al discloses a magnetic disk having surface roughness and microwaviness. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to optimize these properties for a given magnetic head design and system configuration to get maximum output and durability.(See figures and embodiments 8-10 Col 21 line 45- Col 22 line 20.

Art Unit: 1773

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Sun et al is cited for teaching the polishing of a magnetic disk substrate to obtain a desired microwaviness and surface roughness Ra (See figures 5-8).

Oshima US 6818031, and Hagihara et al US 6454820 are cited for teaching polishing compounds to regulate surface roughness properties.

Yokoyama et al is cited for teaching the relationship of a touchdown height of a head slider to surface roughness.
